

SCARING, in this alopecia hair loss is due to the destruction of the hair follicles (capillary sacks). In general this type alopecia is irreversible, the causes are: skin infections, burns, freezing, skin destruction or cuts due to an accident, etc.

We need to understand that existing problems both in the skin and hair, which are not produced by mechanical or chemical action, is caused, directly or indirectly, in the physical or pathological state of the person (the body or mind).

Treatment

Sadly there is no treatment for this type of alopecia.