

PSORIASIS.

The same as dermatitis, psoriasis is a chronic general skin disease.

It manifests as an enlargement of the skin with adhered flakes well outlined ivory in colour. The nails are dotted as though it was a thimble.

It affects both men and women, like dermatitis, it has times of improvement and times of exacerbation, it normally worsens in dry seasons.

The areas where it is most often seen are: elbows, knees, nails and head, it can also extend to the whole body.

Although we do not know the causes, it usually appears in people who have nervous problems, infectious processes, chronic alcoholism, it is also associated with certain medicines, drugs and can have a genetic base as normally we can find a family history of this problem.

TREATMENT
